To calculate the combination classification, the score attained by each competitor in the single competitions is the result of the formula:

$$R = \frac{X}{A} + \frac{Y}{B}$$

where

X = time of the competitor in Slalom

A = time of the winner of Slalom

Y = time of the competitor in Cross-country competition

B = time of the winner of the Cross-country competition

R = final result, expressed as gradually increasing values as the position in classification worsens

Example:

X = 52”

A = 48”

Y = 35'

B = 32'

EURO SKI MEETING

$$R = \frac{52''}{48''} + \frac{35''}{32''} = 1.08 + 1.09 = 2.17 \text{ Points}$$

The “King Arthur's Crown” Trophy will be kept by the winner until the following edition of the Ski Meeting, where it must be put back at stake, it not being any definitive assignment.
